ROUND 3 REVIEW

WILKO BACK ON TOP OF THE WORLD, BUT O'GARA IS NEW CHAMPIONSHIP KING

On the same weekend that Jonny Wilkinson regained the world points record from Dan Carter, the England outside half lost his crown as the leading points scorer in the Championship.

The three points from a penalty taken with his first action after coming on as a replacement in the 51st minute in England's 17-9 enabled Wilkinson to edge past All Blacks star Carter and hoist the world record mark to 1190.

Jonny Wilkinson

Ronan O'Gara

But a day later Ronan O'Gara put a dent in his great rival's celebrations as he scored a match-winning 11 points in Ireland's 21-18 victory over Scotland at Murrayfield. That took him to the verge of 1000 Test points (998) and took his Six Nations / Championship tally to 543.

That gave the Irishman a two point cushion in the Championship record book and the two players will now spend the final two rounds of the 2011 RBS 6 Nations trying to become the first to reach 550 points.

That penalty at Twickenham also took Wilkinson to within two of former world points record holder Neil Jenkins' record total of 248, while Jenkins' fellow Welshman Stephen Jones is now within four of becoming only the fifth player to kick 200 penalties.

Jones, who hopes to become only the second player to win 100 Welsh caps over the last two rounds, is now forging on towards the 1000 Test points mark having this season overtaken Michael Lynagh to move into seventh on the all-time list.

The final two matches in the RBS 6 Nations should give Wilkinson, O'Gara and Jones plenty of opportunities to add to their points tallies, but with so many more internationals to come this year with World Cup warm-up and actual World Cup matches they could all greatly enhance their standings.
